

contacting said depleted cell population, under effective conditions, with an agent effective for activating HIV integrated into the genome of said cells, and determining, in said depleted cell population, the number of intact cells expressing cell-surface gp120. --

---